PRN Program: Role - EDUCATION STRATEGIES

READ:

- PRNs are teachers and educators. To be successful, you'll need to teach your team using methods by which they learn best. You identified ways in which principles of adult learning have been successful in helping your co-workers gain needed knowledge and skills. Educating adults is less about telling and more about building on their experiences.
- First, provide a foundation or context for learning that's based on what they need or want to know.
- Adult learners are motivated by content that is relevant, builds their confidence, captures their attention, or provides satisfaction.
- Adult learners want to be actively involved in learning rather than being lectured to.

Fast Fact Check and Fix Instructions

1. Pick a place to meet with your team.
2. Share what you have learned (because you were at different activities, you may have learned different things).
3. Check your facts.
4. Then employ a creative adult learning strategy in the next 30 minutes to teach your unit this new pain management fact.
5. Plan to share evidence of what your group has learned when your table reconvenes.
